Dear Sir

I have just answered your note. As, I repeat, I am most unwilling to leave in your mind the least suspicion you are wrong, I wish to add that if you are not perfectly satisfied yourself with the explanation I will give you, I am ready to pay the £10 you suppose yourself entitled to a certain extent, to claim.

Yours

Dear Sir

Your claim does not appear to me fair at all and I do not believe. I should not have given you occasion to make it, if I had thought, you had the best right to make it. However, as I wish to avoid to create ill feelings and to leave any doubt in the mind of a gentleman so fertile in finding reasons to build a claim as you are, if you call upon me to morrow evg. I will satisfy you by material proofs that your communication to D. C. was merely a repetition of what

Dear Sir

Your note received last night.

~~As~~ I am obliged for the return to withdraw my proposal of selling, I will explain to you the fall of your argument enough to call this evg or (if more convenient for you) to morrow any time from 11th till 3th O'.

As you told me that Mr Pitt would write to you or come I informed him in view of what I state here. I remain, dear Sir
Yours sincerely

Dear Sir

I have received your letter.

Can you come this evg?
I should be glad to speak to you about this affair.

Yours sincerely

wrote myself to him the same day,

I never authorized you to offer the collection to the S. B. S. for $1000 with-= throw any reserve, " never; and the best proof of it is that you wrote to G. C. even before communicating with Mr. Cullitt. I say that only to remind you of the truth of the fact, for, as I withdrew my offer to the society the day following, I am in all cases perfectly right with them.
