Dear Sir,

I thank you for the information about the Mississippi Blackwell. Published by Ouse in 1820, but I believe you have earlier editions under that name. Could I have seen by Doolittle and, the New Book in the department by the royal incumbent, published without that authority 1760?

Send you by chance with a copy of your edition.

Saturday night.

In the morning we went to the botanic garden and saw the plants and flowers. We also visited the museum and saw the fossilized remains of ancient creatures. In the afternoon, we went to the beach and enjoyed the sunshine and the sea waves. In the evening, we had a delicious dinner at the local restaurant and talked about our day. accordingly very sorry to be to see from London, I would have been very happy to go and been the Satch of Bach perforformed by Mr. Bennett and discoverly in were. It was very satisfying to hear of all which can be done by Mr. Charley in his absence.

Dear Sir,

I ought not to have waited longer by your advice but now I send this by the first post. I hope you will conveniently receive it.

Yours sincerely,
